

To whom it may concern,

I'm writing to endorse Jason Huber's candidacy to fill the Midwest Region's current vacancy on the NAGW Board of Directors.

I've known Jason for six years or more. We have crossed paths in multiple settings including the Minnesota Association of Government Webweavers and the Minnesota Association of Government Communicators. Jason is an active participant in these groups and a respected source of knowledge in all things Web related. I have personally benefitted on a number of occasions when Jason has been kind enough to share his knowledge and experience with me when I've needed input from someone who knows what they are doing.

Jason is a top notch programmer and designer, taking the St. Louis Park website to a standard of design and content management that has won numerous awards along with the admiration of his peers here at the City of Bloomington, where I work, and throughout the region. Jason is well known for his well-designed websites and his custom open-source software including Graffitinet, myNeighborhood, and the St. Louis Park website's Customer Service Portal and CMS, to name just a few.

I'm sure you're aware of Jason's volunteering at the recent NAGW conference, so I won't need to alert you to the help he provided, improving the experience for the many conference participants and vendors visiting our state. I personally witnessed him interacting with many of the attendees and serving as a goodwill ambassador for the Midwest Region.

Jason is an outstanding candidate for the open board position and I'm confident that he will become an indispensable part of NAGW's operations upon entry into the position. I can't think of a better choice and I urge the board to consider Jason for the position.

Please contact me if you have any questions about this recommendation or about Jason.

Sincerely,
